Values Your Privacy

Privacy is a priority for us. Here we explain what information we collect when you use our website, why we collect this information, and how we improve your experience. This applies to Zoë Wilmaers' website. Please note: Zoë is not responsible for the privacy policies of other websites. By using our website, you consent to our privacy policy.

We respect the privacy of all our users and treat the provided personal information confidentially.

Cookies: We use cookies to understand how users interact with our site so we can improve our services. This information is used for analytics and securely stored.

Purposes: We only use your information for the purposes described here and with your consent.

Use of Our Services: When you sign up for our services, we may ask for personal data. This information is only used to provide the service and is stored on our secure servers or those of third parties.

Communication: Any messages you send us may be retained to process your inquiries. Your personal data is only used for the intended purpose and securely stored.

Third Parties: We do not share your information with third parties except when necessary for our service provision. Our employees are required to respect the confidentiality of your data.

Choices for Personal Data: You have the right to access, modify, or delete your personal data. You can also opt out of our newsletter.

Disabling Cookies: You can adjust your browser settings to refuse cookies, but this may affect the functionality of our website.

Changes: This privacy policy may be adjusted to changes on our site. Please check regularly for updates.

Questions and Feedback: If you have any questions about our privacy policy, feel free to contact us. We ensure compliance with this policy.
